(A) Badangi (‘Rock Oyster’)  A midden is a place where remains from eating countless shellfish meals have accumulated along with bones, artefacts and tools.

(C) Ganing (‘Cave’)
Hear the crackle of the fire, smell the smoky fish cooking and listen to the voices of the elders passing on stories of their land and people to the younger generations.

(D) Barani—Barrabuga (‘Yesterday-Tomorrow’)
Elevated on this sandstone platform you are able to see a jungle of buildings rising from the horizon. Imagine this view in 1787.

(B) Mugu (‘Stone Hatchet’)
Axe grinding grooves are created by using water and rubbing the basalt stone back and forth on the wet rock to sharpen the axe.

(E) Nuwi (‘Canoe’)
Canoes are constructed from bark and fires used on board for cooking. A layer of sand/clay was used and Banksia cones as coal.

Mudjil Damara (‘red hand’)
Stenciling is created by mixing ochre in the mouth with water and spit, then spraying over the hand or other objects such as woomeras or boomerangs.

Gulgadya (‘Grass Tree’)
Aboriginal people have developed an intimate association with plants. The Xanthorrhoea (Grass Tree) produces a resin that was used in the production of tools. This resin would outstick any modern day super glue!

Warrigal (‘Spinach’) utilised by the Aboriginal people. Captain Cook took advantage of it to keep his crew free from scurvy.

Guman (‘Swamp She Oak’)
(Casuarina) women taught children that inside this tree’s cone lived a protective spirit. Lost children sought Casuarina groves for safety, women sought lost children in the Casuarina groves.
You are about to embark on a reflective journey exploring the cultural remains and mysteries of the Aboriginal people once living in Mowbray Park. The sites you will discover tell their story even though the people themselves have been displaced from this land.
